WEDNESDAY, SEPT. 16, 1885.

It is rather amusing to read in some of the Cleveland organs earnest appeals to the Democrats not to divert their own Administration which has been in power just six months.

The only office assigned by Register Roscrans for the dedication of a clerk in his department itself at the pleasure of the appointing power. How does that comport with President Cleveland's assurance that officials should not be removed without cause?

The Bourbon leaders in boasting of their ability to carry Virginia this year claim that the control of the election machinery in that State is worth ten thousand votes to them. This must be regarded as a rather significant commentary on Democratic methods of conducting elections.

As an illustration of the effects of the Postmaster General's raid upon the railway mail service, one of our citizens informs us that a letter to his wife mailed by him in New York some days prior to his departure for home did not reach Bangor until after he arrived and that he delivered it in person. There is nothing like Democratic reform.

The Washington correspondent of the Boston Post now asserts that O. W. Powers, Justice of the Supreme Court of Utah is the man to whom the President wrote his indignant letter. Why is it that the President does not settle the matter by the prompt removal of the objectionable appointee? Does he intend to continue as Judge a man not qualified morally or professionally to fill the important position?

The President will have an opportunity to adhere to the principles of civil service reform in appointing a supervising surgeon of the marine hospital service.—Wash. Cor. Bost. Herald.

If the President desires to adhere to the principles of civil service reform it will strike the average reader that the best way for him to prove it would be to retain the services of Dr. Hamilton who is an able and experienced official.

A Cleveland and Hendricks Representative Farm of Ohio is waving that the policy adopted by John Sherman and other Republican leaders of Ohio, of waving the bloody shirt was doing the Republican cause much harm in the State. If this is the case why don't Democratic papers denounce such a policy instead of the abuse of Senator Sherman? It is a little singular that the Democrats should make so much fuss about a policy, which, if Mr. Farnham can be believed is benefiting their cause.

An Augusta despatch to the Boston Journal says: The Augusta Post Office contest has assumed a new phase. Col. Ellis Milliken, E. C. Allen, Oscar Holway and Col. Morton left Sunday night for Washington. It is believed, to withdraw Col. Morton and to urge upon his successor. It is said that J. B. Fowler will be selected by these gentlemen. Much ill feeling is expressed by the rank and file of the Democracy that these gentlemen should arrogate to themselves the right to select a postmaster without consultation with the people.

Governor Hendricks and other Democrats are fond of declaring that the Republicans, having been in power twenty-five years, should have settled the suffrage question if it needed settlement. These gentlemen ought to know, says the Boston Journal, that the Republicans have not had a working majority in Congress since that which went out March 4, 1875. Only once since that time have they had a majority in both branches. That was so small that in the House the Democrats could and did break it by filibustering.

The Boston Herald is preparing for a defeat in New York by declaring that the loss of the Empire State could not fairly be called a rebuke to the Administration. The Herald is trying to play sort of a double game and tells you lose game if the Democrats should carry the State the Herald would be one of the first organs to glide over the splendid indorsement of the Administration; but if Mr. Cleveland is beaten in his own State, why of course that don't count. Such reasoning may be satisfactory to the Herald, but it will not be accepted in working it on the public.

While Gov. Hendricks is travelling over Ohio bossing of the part he performed in turning Mullen loose upon the community again the Springfield Republican, one of the most independent Cleveland organs in the country, says: "The Republican cannot but regard the President's pardon of Lieutenant Mullen, of the Cincinnati police, as one of his gravest errors, for all Gov. Hendly has to say in extenuation of it. It ought to have occurred to the Executive that interference with the freedom of suffrage is a crime freely charged upon the Democratic party, and that the record of the party on that point is not so clear that it could run any risks in showing sympathy for those guilty of such interference.

The Maine State Board of Health in a recent circular, emphasizes the value of vaccination by presenting some statistics of the great mortality from small pox before its discovery. In France 30 000 persons died annually from this disease, and not far from 460 000 was the yearly number of deaths throughout Europe from this scourge. Since vaccination became general the death rate from small pox has decreased from 2 643 in the million of population to 114 in Westphalia, from 3,422 to 170 in Berlin, and from 4,000 to 200 in Copenhagen. Even in recent times neglect of this precaution has led to disastrous results as is the case at present in Montreal. The examination of 5,000 cases of small-pox in England, shows that there is greater safety in several vaccine scars than in one. Even after exposure to the disease vaccination should be done at any time before the actual appearance of the eruption. When a case appears the strictest isolation should be enforced, and continued at least two weeks after the recovery of the patient. Thorough disinfection should be enforced and if death ensues the body should be immediately wrapped in sheets wet with disinfectants and privately buried as soon possible. The room in which the sickness occurs should be very thoroughly fumigated and new paper, paint and whitewash at once applied.

It is the Democratic Atlanta Constitution which says that "Treasurer Jordan continues to be of the opinion that the the finances of this country were invented for the convenience of Wall street."

The row made about Admiral Jouett's expenditure of $400 in entertaining visitors on the flag ship Tennessee seems ridiculous, and it can hardly furnish any showy feathers for the cap of this Administration, says the Lowell Courier. What would these six penny lawyers who want to take charge of everybody have? The Rear Admiral's pay was not intended for the entertainment of guests of the Nation on the flagship. Should the officer who was bound to represent the government turn a cold shoulder to the visitors? or should he pay the bills himself? He would be properly censurable for conduct unbecoming an officer of the Navy if he did the former, and he would be a fool to do the latter. Comptroller Maynard appears to be a humbug.

Second Assistant Postmaster General Knott is expected in Washington by Thursday after an extensive tour of the North west. Information received from him indicates that he was greatly surprised at the vastness and perfection of the railway mail service and the workings of mail delivery generally. His report will be favorable to every detail of the system as it has grown up under previous administrations. It would have been a good thing for the public if Mr. Villas had taken the trouble to learn something about the service before he began the work of 'reforming' experienced clerks out and Democratic workers in. His raid upon the service has caused much dissatisfaction among business men who complain at the irregularity of the mails.

The Colored Vote

DEMOCRATS FRANKLY ACKNOWLEDGE ITS SUPPRESSION IN THE SOUTHERN STATES.

[Boston Journal (Rep.)]

I have called," said a resident of Georgia, "to say to you that what Senator Sherman says is true. It is useless to deny it. The colored people have lost the right of suffrage very largely unless they vote with the Democracy. There is now no intimidation and no bulldozing. The colored man feels no particular restraint, only that he has come to know that it is useless for him to trouble himself about voting. No one interferes with his ballot, but if he goes to the polls, and there is any danger that his voting will make the result close, he generally goes away without voting. That is the election officers cause such delays in regard to his presenting his tax receipts or evidence of registration that but few of them get their votes into the ballot-box in the course of a day. Then if they should happen to be too numerous, except in a few black districts, they are lost in the counting. 'We lost 300 of your votes in ——precinct,' was a remark I heard made by a Democratic election officer to a candidate several years since, and the candidate made no reply. It was what he expected. These things will gradually change for the better—are changing."

Troy (N. Y.) Times, Sept. 1.

Less than a month ago an intelligent Democrat from South Carolina while making a call at the editorial rooms of the Troy Times indulged in some very frank language on the subject of suppressing the negro vote in his State. It was no longer necessary he said to pursue the old system of night riding and violence by which colored men were kept away from the polls on election days. New plans have been devised and are in operation by means of which the negroes are prevented from voting, or their ballots miscounted and made to tell against their intent. All the election machinery is in the hands of the Democrats. No black man can vote without prescribing a certificate issued by the Democratic authorities proving his right to do so. A certificate once has is never duplicated or renewed, and very ingenious schemes are resorted to for the purpose of getting such papers away from the holders.

THE TROUBLE IT CAUSES DEMOCRATS AND RENEGADES.

Riot hoad Letter to Cincinnati Commercial (Rep.)]

Let a statesman like John Sherman state to the people of the war or the condition of the freedmen or speak of the discrepancy between the number of colored votes cast and the number counted, then George Hoadly and other renegade Ohio Bourbons and all the old copperheads and the little bunch of tabby cats called Mugwumps rise on their collective and individual hind legs and shout in unison "Bloody-shirt-ism!" Then all sit down fan themselves and not approvingly to one another. We quite liked old Sherman at that time, didn't we?

Then when Judge Forniker in an exhaustive discussion covering all aspects of the political situation, dwells briefly upon the matter of the Solid South and character of elections had there up pops the precious crowd again, and as in duty all shout together, "Bloody shirt" and then all resent themselves and wink again to one another, "We punished Forniker pretty flat then didn't we?

Whitney and His Work

A FEW OF THE RESULTS OF THE SUSPENSION OF THE PRESIDENT'S BROTHER.

[Chester (Pa.) Times.]

When the Democratic Administration began its persecution of Roach it did it by driving him to the wall a blow was struck to a large number of workmen a blow from which it will take many weeks to recover. Quite a number of men employed at Roach's shipyard had been putting by all the money they could save from their earnings and investing it in the houses in which they live. Some have their purchase paid for, but many have not yet raised the mortgage. As long as they had employment but little was paid on the money borrowed while the principal steadily decreased, but with the closing of the works the source of revenue was stopped.

Weeks have passed and still the yard is closed. The family must be provided for, and with this care is the knowledge that obligations on the home are coming due and must be met. This is causing loss of sleep to many a man in this city, for there is the constant fear that the property he had so fondly hoped to own may be swept away by foreclosure and he helpless to avert the disaster. These men realize that times are not good with many others, and hence it will be very difficult to borrow sufficient money on a second mortgage to meet the claim, as by a forced sale a poor figure would be secured.

Some of those workmen are in better shape financially and do not owe so much on their properties, so that a loan on first mortgage could be secured, and their homes saved, but the question is causing uneasiness to many families. In the majority of cases all the money saved was put into payments on the house, and now store bills are being contracted, with but a distant prospect of paying them. Some workmen have been unable to get credit any longer, and positive want stares them in the face. They are too proud to make their wants known, yet relief committees from various church societies have found sad cases of destitution among honest people. All the goods they could spare, clothing, furniture, and other things had been sold for food, and nothing was left wherewith to purchase sustenance for the family. This is a sad story, yet it is fully corroborated by members of the Ladies' Aid Societies of the various churches.

This is the result of Whitney and his pals.

* * * * * * *

As many families have been affected by the long cessation from work, its counter influence is being felt upon the churches in the South ward. A majority of the married male members were employed at the shipyard, and the revenue is therefore seriously interfered with. The working people are in the main the most liberal, and hence the churches are experiencing no little difficulty in raising sufficient money to meet current expenses. The problem is a grave one for the various financial boards and there is going to be considerable embarrassment in making up sufficient funds in some of the South ward churches this year.

There are other effects of Secretary Whitney's coup d'etat, for the blow aimed at Mr Roach struck many people. Every week a large amount of money was paid out at Roach's shipyard, nearly all of which found its way into the hands of the Chester grocer, the shoemaker the tailor, the merchant, was invested in houses, or in other ways went to enrich the people of this city, and added joy and comfort to hundreds of happy homes. Now this golden stream of prosperity is cut off and in its place has come debt, foreclosed mortgages, want, poverty, distress and all the train of evils that idleness brings.

This is the Democratic policy of Secretary Whitney.

Gen Wise, Mahone's candidate for Governor, has completed his canvass of most of the white counties. Gen Fitz Hugh Lee has just started out. The Democrats claim that a considerable number of negroes will support their ticket this year. An effort will be made by Mahone and Wise to get Blaine and Logan into this State in the last week or two of the campaign.

GRAND ARMY OF THE REPUBLIC.

Proposed Monument to General Grant.

General Order No. 6.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Sept. 15. The following General Order has been issued:

HEADQUARTERS,
GRAND ARMY OF THE REPUBLIC
OFFICE OF ADJUTANT GENERAL,
Washington, Sept 14, 1885.

General Orders No. 6.

Believing it to be the general desire of the members of the Grand Army of the Republic that a monument shall be erected to their departed comrade, Gen. U. S. Grant, which will testify forever their affection for him as a comrade, and fitly symbolize their appreciation of his great services to our country, in whose behalf they, with him, perilled their lives and offered their all, I deem it proper, not as clothed with official authority in that regard, but as discharging a duty to which I am invited by the united voice of my comrades, to invoke their favorable consideration and action upon the following plan and suggestions.

First—That a sum of money equal to a contribution of fifteen cents per capita for each member of the Grand Army of the Republic in good standing be raised for the end named, that for the purpose of certainty and expedition this amount be appropriated from the Post funds, to be reimbursed by donations of individual comrades or in such manner as each post may provide.

Second—That to suitably mark the event to be evidenced for all time of an equal share of all the comrades of the Grand Army in this work of commemoration, neatly written rolls be prepared on blanks to be furnished from the national headquarters which shall contain the name, rank, regiment and post of each donor, these to be returned to the national headquarters, bound into volumes and properly cared for; and that provision be made to furnish each post lithographic or other suitable form of engraving of the finished volumes.

Third—That a committee to be hereinafter named shall in conjunction with the National Council of Administration take into consideration and determine the form of memorial to be adopted, the place of its erection and other necessary details.

Fourth—All moneys donated for this purpose to be forwarded through the department headquarters to the Quartermaster General and by him specially deposited for the Grant monument, under rules to be prescribed by the National Council of Administration.

It has been suggested that honorably discharged soldiers and sailors not members of our organization, be permitted to join with us in this most grateful duty. Let all such who are worthy be invited first of all to stand in the ranks of the Grand Army. Our self-imposed task has in view the erection of a monument which avoiding all exaggeration or mere motive of display, shall be in keeping with the simplicity of the life and character of our great leader, of such intrinsic excellence as shall command the love of the Nation and this through all succeeding generations be our memorial as well as a monument to his fame.

On behalf of his comrades everywhere the Commander-in-Chief feels authorized to declare that whilst determined to erect a memorial to our dead comrade which shall be solely the result of their own contributions they nevertheless view with gratification and will add to the extent of their ability all other patriotic efforts put forth to do him honor.

By command of
S. S. BURDETTE,
Commander-in-Chief.

JOHN CAMERON,
Adjutant General.

STARTLING DISCLOSURES

Sons of Prominent Ohio Citizens Engaged in Burglaries—Great Excitement in the Community

CINCINNATI, O., Sept. 15.—Publication is made to-day of a startling disclosure at Celina, Mercer county, O., where three or four youths, scarcely of age, sons of leading and wealthy citizens, are under bonds for burglaries committed in that town. One of these is Clayton Marsh, son of Hon. I. D. Marsh, Speaker of the Ohio House of Representatives, and another is the son of County Clerk Landfear and a student at the Kentucky Military Institution. Several others are suspected, but are not yet arrested. The matter became public through a nephew of the sheriff who had been intrusted with the sale of some stolen jewelry. Young Marsh, it is said, has made a confession. A bookkeeper named Joseph Schilling has also been arrested in connection with the affair and is under bonds. The whole town is wild with excitement and the citizens fear no adequate prosecution can be had owing to the influence of the friends of the defendants. A fund has been started to employ a competent prosecutor.

THE VIRGINIA CAMPAIGN

Warming up to Fever Heat.

NEW YORK, Sept. 15. A special to the Evening Post from Richmond, Va., says: The Virginia campaign is warming up to fever heat and it will not be long before the bitterest personalities may be expected to be indulged in. Gen Wise, Mahone's candidate for Governor, has completed his canvass of most of the white counties. Gen Fitz Hugh Lee has just started out. The Democrats claim that a considerable number of negroes will support their ticket this year. An effort will be made by Mahone and Wise to get Blaine and Logan into this State in the last week or two of the campaign.

THE WHEAT SUPPLY

A Larger Decrease Than Expected

CHICAGO, Sept. 15. The posting of the visible supply of wheat, showing a decrease of 117,000 bushels, according to the Chicago statement, was a great surprise to the majority of the traders, as a larger increase had confidently been looked for. As a consequence the market opened with a boom, the first quotation for November being 84½ against 83⅜ at the close yesterday afternoon. After the first rush prices fell back to 83¾ and rallied to 84.

In this work he was greatly aided by the munificence of the late Reuben Springer.

THE PURITAN-GENESTA RACE.

Preparations for To-day's Contest.

Confidence in the Yankee Sloop.

But the Puritan's Owners, Believe She will Have no Walk Over.

NEW YORK, Sept 15 Yesterday's victory of the Puritan over the Genesta has increased the interest in the international contest tenfold. Those who were in doubt about the final result are reassured and many who hesitated about making wagers are now betting heavily on the Puritan for a winner in to-morrow's race, no matter what weather she may encounter. At the hotels, clubs and in the theatre lobbies to-night the prominent topics of conversation are the details of yesterday's race and the possibilities in the outside contest of forty miles to-morrow.

The English ensign floated all day from the flag pole of the New York Yacht Club house on Madison avenue in deference to the defeated guest. The damage to the Genesta's "yoke," into which the heel of the topmast fitted, and which caused a postponement of the outside race till to-morrow, was repaired by her crew to-day. Mr Forbes, Gen Paine and Capt. Crocker were very reticent to day, but all agreed that the Genesta was a most formidable rival.

Give us a good breeze from southwest to-morrow, which is generally a stiff one, said Mr Forbes, "and I feel confident that the Puritan will give us a good account of herself."

The course to-morrow will be 20 miles to windward, or leeward, from Sandy Hook or Scotland Lightship, according to the wind and return. The start is to be at 10 30 sharp.

Mr. H. R. Bradley, of this city, did not sail last week from Europe, as was stated in the WHIG. He is obliged to remain in Paris for a week or two longer on account of his brother-in-law, who is only out [illegible] enough to confine him to his room for a short time.

The excursion train for Maine cook will leave this city at 8 10 this morning and it will without doubt be heavily loaded, as much interest in the regatta is being taken here. On account of a severe hoarseness Officer Nickerson will not pull in the Bangor police tug-of-war team but Officer Alvin Reed will take his place.

Some of the new ten cent delivery stamps which will be used beginning October 1st have been received at the post office in this city. They are of a beautiful blue color and besides the inscription bear a cut of a messenger boy. The whole combines to make a very handsome stamp.

The Steamboat Inspectors visited Eastport and Machias in the latter part of last week and inspected a fine new steamer on the lake there. They leave to-day on another trip. The Maine Central Railroad employees are putting in a side track 1,450 feet long at Danforth which extends from the main line into the new box shook mills of Hathorn, Foss & Co. It will be remembered that this firm have ceased operations at their Lambert Lake factory and are moving their business to Danforth.

There was another large party on the steamer Katahdin yesterday morning bound for Boston to see the great cyclorama "The Battle of Gettysburg." The low rates and great attractions offered by the excursions on the Boston steamers this week will undoubtedly cause many Bangor people to make the trip.

The remains of the late F. F. French, Esq., were brought down from Kineo during Monday night by a special steamer and came down over the Bangor and Piscataquis on yesterday morning's train. The funeral will occur at the Episcopal church this afternoon at half past two o'clock. The rector, Rev. Wm. Allen Fiske, will officiate.

He was in a stooping position and rising quickly he struck his head against a protruding spike inflicting a scalp wound fully four inches in length. A physician took several stitches in the wound, and last night Nye was feeling very well considering his injury.

A correspondent writes: A lodge of Good Templars was instituted at Gray Monday evening, September 14, by M. J. Dow, of Brooks. They start with a fine lodge of twenty-six charter members and will without doubt make the movement a success. They are to meet Monday evening at Cook's Hall. The principal officers are: J. H. Hunt, L. D.; Geo. H. Pennell, W. C. T.; Grace P. Dow, W. V. T.; Florence M. Hunt, W. S.

The Flying Yankee from the east was some minutes late yesterday noon, the delay being caused on the New Brunswick Railway. A very large crowd came into this city on that train. When it left for the west it was composed of nine cars including two Pullman parlor cars. Attached to the rear end of the train was the private car of General Manager Tucker occupied by President Sewall, who was on his return from a five days' trip to St. John.

Our Winterport correspondent writes: The team of Chas. T. Seavey, of Frankfort, was stolen Sunday evening while he was stopping at the house of John Nichols, North Searsport. The team consisted of a brown mare about twenty years old and a grocery wagon. One of the batteaus which will be used in the Maranacook regatta to-day was completed in this city yesterday at the shop of H. B. Maynard. It is long and narrow and one would judge from its appearance that it is a first class racing boat.

Work on the city bridges is progressing very favorably. At the Dudley bridge one span is already completed and the trusses for the other span are now nearly ready for erection. The cost is to be much more favorable for the city than was at first anticipated. At the Franklin bridge the foundation of the middle pier is finished and the work is being pushed rapidly. A large crew of men work at each low tide. City Engineer Coombs is kept busy looking after the bridge and sewer work.

THE TROTTERS AT MAPLEWOOD. Mr. John P. Gibbs drove his five-year-old colt John Mills three heats at Maplewood yesterday in 2 40, 2 38 and 2 36¾. These were merely practice spins given the colt to keep him in condition for the State Fair races next week. Mr. Charles Andrews drove his horse a mile in 2 40, and the gray horse, which is a full brother to Ezra L. and owned by Mr. J. B. P. Wheelden, was given a mile in 2 45. This horse has always been rather slow and this was the second mile ever given him and is considered by the horsemen a very remarkable performance. Many of them think that he will be able to equal Ezra L.'s time inside of a year.

THE COMING ST. MARY'S FAIR. Arrangements are now steadily progressing for the fair to be given by the members of St. Mary's Catholic Parish some time in October and which is expected to be the greatest event of the kind which has occurred here for some years. It will begin on Saturday evening and continue to and include the next Saturday night. Sunday evening being of course excepted. There will be an entertainment of some kind each evening. The proceeds of the fair will be used toward the payment of the debt incurred by the Society in the purchase of a large lot of desirable land in the vicinity of their church. It will be held in Union Hall.

EXCURSION TO MOOSEHEAD. It will be remembered that last fall a very pleasant party of Boston & Maine and Maine Central Railroad men went up to Moosehead Lake accompanied by Chandler's Band and passed a week there. The same party have issued invitations and will repeat the trip this year. They arrive here from Portland on the 4 45 train, Oct. 16th and pass the night at the Bangor House. In the evening Chandler's Band will give a concert and the members of the party will enjoy rides about the city. In the morning they leave for Kineo where they will remain until October 19th. It is expected that the trip will be made even more enjoyable than that of last year.

THE CITY SEWERS. The huge sewers now being constructed about the city will be great additions to the already excellent system of the city. The Meadow Brook sewer is one of the largest trunk sewers in the city. It is 160 feet long two and one-half feet wide and three and one-half feet high and made of double brick. The Congress street sewer will be completed yesterday. This is 160 feet long, twelve inches wide and eighteen inches high. It was constructed in six days which is considered a remarkably quick piece of work. Mr. S. B. Heald who has long been a foreman in the sewer department is superintendent of the construction of these sewers.

THE BUSINESS OUTLOOK. During the past thirty days there has been a great increase in trade in this city and our merchants generally are beginning to feel very confident in regard to business during the next four or five months. All of them are feeling easier than for some time past, and they say that trade is increasing and in very firm. Prices on goods are taking a healthy advance and the wholesale dry goods dealers find that they are now unable to obtain goods to fill their orders as fast as they are received. Flannels have advanced in price from two to ten per cent and clothing of all kinds and everything in the line of winter goods has risen. It is hoped that the good business outlook at present will continue and our merchants will this fall make up for the poor trade of the last nine months.

THE DREDGING OPERATIONS. Both of the members of the firm of Moore & Wright, who have the contract for dredging in the ports of Bangor, are in the city. Col. Moore arrived last night and Mr. Wright was in the city all day yesterday. They now contemplate putting on another dredger, as they think this one will be unable to accomplish the work before the rivers freezes over. Few people realize what an enormous job it is. The steam tug Henrietta, belonging to the firm and which has been lying idle in the harbor all summer, coaled up yesterday and will leave this morning for Jonesport, near which place a large amount of dredging is being done by this company. The tug William Kemp is kept at work constantly towing the loaded scows down the river, where they are dumped.

A PLEASANT ENTERTAINMENT. Last evening the Second Baptist Society held the first of their series of entertainments for the coming fall and winter at their vestry on Columbia street. Supper was served from six to eight o'clock, after which the following programme was finely presented, giving great pleasure to the large audience assembled. Recitation, "Spoopendyke digs clams," Miss Nellie Kidder, reading, "Baby wants the moon," Gertie Hisley, recitation, "Briar Rose," Miss Alice Newhall, song, "Good Night," Mr. Allan G. Ray, recitation, "Nita's Second Cousin," Miss Nellie Butler, followed in response to an encore by "Harry's Stategem", recitation, "Lying her Bonnet," Miss Nellie Kidder, song, "Laugh, Boys, Laugh," by a quartette composed of Messrs. Ray, Gordon, Avery and White, and being encored gave, "In the Land Far Away."

NOTES FROM KINEO. The number of guests at the Kineo House is now steadily decreasing. On Monday the departures numbered over fifty, many of them composing parties that have remained here through the season.——The only event that has occurred to mar the summer was the death of Mr. French, of Bangor, on Sunday evening last. All the guests feel deeply for the afflicted relatives.——It is perhaps needless to say that during the past week many fine strings of trout have been brought in. Sport is now at its height and billiards and tennis are sadly neglected.——Now is the most charming season of the year at Moosehead. The air is not cold but bracing to an extreme degree, and in the clear autumn air the scenery is doubly beautiful.——On Thursday evening of last week the Gov. Coburn, while leaving Kineo for her trip down the lake, ran ashore on a bar in the cove. The steamer was safely removed, however, in a short time.——The German last Thursday evening was a very enjoyable occasion, and was a fitting farewell to the guests who departed on Friday.

NEW BRUNSWICK RAILWAY. The New Brunswick Railway is just booming under the management of Mr. F. W. Cram. Monday night two handsome new passenger cars for the railway passed through this city and yesterday morning there were two more on the train, together with an elegant new private car for General Manager Cram. The passenger cars were all finished in mahogany and splendidly fitted up, no handsomer ones having been seen in this city for a long time. The private car is finished in magnificent style. These new cars together with the new box cars and locomotives will form a great addition to the rolling stock of the New Brunswick Railway.

A RIDE TO BLACK CAP. A pleasant picnic party went to Black Cap, East Eddington yesterday, in Winchester's barge. The day was all that could be desired and the ride of twelve miles in a barge drawn by four swift steeds, was much enjoyed. Near the top of the mountain a party of skirt from Brewer had previously arrived and was enjoying a feast of good things. After dinner a stroll was had through the woods. The view from the observatory on top of Black Cap is truly grand. Eleven ponds can be seen in the distance and in clear days the hotel at Eagle Mountain, and Bar Harbor can be distinctly seen. The party arrived home at an early hour much pleased with the day's enjoyment.

WEDDING AT OLD TOWN. The parlors of Mr. and Mrs. Frank W. Folsom, of Old Town, were well filled yesterday with happy and richly attired guests the occasion being the wedding of their eldest daughter, Miss Myrtle C. Folsom, and Mr. Luther F. Mariner of Milford. The bride is a graduate of the Old Town High School of the class of 1882. Since that time she has taught music in that town, winning marked success and merited popularity by her ample qualifications and kindly bearing. Mr. Mariner, son of the late Luther Mariner, has been for several years the efficient station agent in Milford. The many and elegant gifts consisting of paintings, plate, glass, furniture and money, amply attested the generosity and affection of the numerous friends and relatives present. The newly married pair were the recipients of many hearty congratulations and good wishes for the future. After partaking of a varied and palatal collation with their guests Mr. and Mrs. Mariner took the Flying Yankee for Old Orchard, where they remain for a short time, thence proceeding to Massachusetts and returning the latter part of the month to Milford their future home.

HAULS FROM THE TOWNS. The discovery yesterday of an odd to obstone while enlarging the cellar of house No. 141 Hammond street, set the workmen all agog and the reporter of the afternoon paper seeking therein the vision of buried cities, some Pompeii or Herculaneum yet unsung, assiduously devoted the day to arch-ological research in the hope of discovering if possible, the identity of the consort Nancy who's name was inscribed upon the slab. As his will meant and earnest endeavors proved futile, we will lend our aid to the unraveling of the mystery. The house in question was formerly occupied by an esteemed citizen well known to the writer, but who has long since passed away from earthly existence, and who, coming into possession of the slab which had caused so much speculation placed it in front of his door as a stepping stone, the inscription being placed downward and originally been used. In the changes which have been made by the gentlemen who has since owned the property the stone was thrown aside and covered with dirt where it has since lain unswept, unhonored and unsung, till the spade of the workman again brought it to the light. These being the facts any further time spent in hunting for the ashes of the lamented Nancy in that locality or for further evidences of a burial place long forgotten will be worse than thrown away, and we await, with all the patience we can command the announcement of the next sensation.

A TERRIBLE GASH

Richard Thompson a Prisoner in the County Jail Attempts Suicide by Cutting his Throat with the Dull Blade of a Tobacco Knife—His Recovery Thought to be Impossible—Particulars of the Deed.

About half past five o'clock yesterday morning as Turnkey I. K. Webber was making his usual morning rounds at the County jail he heard groans issuing from the cell of Richard Goss alias "Dick" Thompson, who burned the building of his son-in-law at Moosehead Lake some months ago, an [illegible] who has been indicted for arson at the term of court now being held in Piscataquis County. He opened the cell door and found Goss staggering about and muttering while blood was flowing freely from a terrible gash in his throat. The turnkey told Goss upon his arrival and called for assistance and several of the prisoners responded and held the unfortunate man in his position. The jail physician Dr. Woodcock was notified and he immediately came and made an examination of Goss. It was found that he had thrust the dull large blade of a jack knife, which he had been using for a tobacco knife, into his throat on the right side and had almost torn a gash about four inches long. The blade was so very dull that the action could not be called cutting and the wound was terribly mangled.

He had severed the windpipe entirely, but fortunately had not cut any of the large blood vessels, although the carotid artery was laid bare. One could almost put his fist into the cavity of Goss' throat through the wound. He was unable to talk, but when a towel was placed over the wound he whispered "Do you think they will send me to State Prison now?" The physician plastered up one side of the wound, but it was thought to be of little avail. He was perfectly conscious at all times of what was going on around him, but could not speak. It was necessary at all times yesterday to keep men with him to prevent his doing further injury to himself. The physicians stated it would be almost impossible for him to live, as he can take no nourishment, and owing to the nature of the wound it will be almost impossible for it to heal. Besides that, Goss will not lend his efforts for recovery to the physicians.

He was lying last night and lying in the same condition as in the morning. Today he will be removed from the j

Florida's Wonders.

A WATERSPOUT ON THE ST. JOHNS RIVER —A MAGNIFICENT SPECTACLE.

[New York Sun.]

GREEN COVE SPRINGS, Fla., August 28 —The St. Johns river is five miles wide at this place. Some ten miles south of here the stream makes a grand sweep toward the west. In front of the town it resumes its general northerly course. From the pier that juts 500 feet into the stream the wooded shore opposite looks like a low border of green to which a grayish cast is imparted by the Spanish moss hanging from the branches, studded with the almost white trunks of gigantic cypress trees standing at the water's edge. Looking up the river, the shore on the farther side of the great bend appears lower still and more indistinct, and its line is broken at the farthest point by the deep cove at the mouth of Six-mile creek. On this side of the river Red Bay point, four or five miles distant, shuts off the view.

A group of maybe a dozen men, colored and white, were standing on the pier in the afternoon. The river lay like glass. Over Red Bay point hung a cloud of a leaden hue. It seemed to be moving toward the northwest. Soon a brown ripple appeared on the distant surface of the water, under the edge of the advancing cloud and spread across from the mouth of Six-mile creek. Suddenly one of the men pointed toward the east with an exclamation of wonder. From behind Red Bay point a section, broad and surprisingly brilliant, rainbow was advancing. As it moved over the river the whole of the space between the arm and the water seemed flooded with light tinted with the colors of the rainbow. Seen through this light the distant shore seemed to be brought nearer. The line of sand at the water's edge, the trunks of trees, even the festoons of waving moss showed with unnatural distinctness. Something of the same effect is produced on the theatre stage when a full cut in of gauze is used to give the appearance of distance to a part of the stage picture.

Just before the arc of colors and rain had completed the span of the river a dark column of mist and waters in appearance, extending from the cove to the clouds, and moving swiftly from behind Red Bay point, was at once noted by the observers as such that it was not a downpouring of water from a cloud, the water of the St. Johns was streaming skyward with a mighty flow into the overhanging cloud. The storm of the waterspout, to justify its description, moved out upon the broad bosom of the river and the rainbow arch disappeared before it. Then suddenly the stem parted at its southernmost point, the funnel shaped cloud burst and a column almost like a straight line of water fell into the boiling river.

Papa is Driving.

A SWEDISH INCIDENT OF THE RUSSO-TURKISH WAR.

I arrived at the station at the appointed hour. I noticed that a lady was the only attendant left there, and I rightly took to me. The door was shut. The whistle was blown and we were off.

Curiously enough the car was not crowded. I found the fifth passenger. Two of the seats were occupied only by an old gentleman and a baby by a child. Having myself been a child about 10 years old, neatly and nicely dressed and holding her self the most beautiful little child I ever saw—a little girl of six years old with a flood of blond curls waving under her flannel straw hat. Now and then the child would look through the window in the direction of the engine, and then her eyes seemed to wander in the infinite space that was unrolling itself before her. We came to a station. The train stopped. The little girl put her face to the window. I do not see him, she said to the lady beside her. "I don't see him." Then suddenly her face brightened and her eyes lit with golden halos, during which indescribable joy, while her eyes came down upon two hands that came from the exterior and were placed upon the frame of the opened window. "Ah, papa! Here is papa!" exclaimed my little neighbor with the exultant fun and joy of heavenly years.

It was the engineer of our train who had come to speak to his little daughter and to whom we stood in front of us.

We were going for lost time, we will try to get it. "Why, mamma, is papa driving?" No said the child because I know that I am driving.

Why, my, said the man as he left.

By no papa, said the child throwing herself on his neck.

During this time I had gradually reached the engine, my speed. I would children and I like to examine the little engine. It was full of life and go. She amused herself with everything and nothing, joking with her father. Equipped with the whistles and steam which moved with the different connections all the time with which I was almost deafening, when suddenly the gentleman in the cockhead

Looked as we were going too fast. The train will surely run off the track.

Oh, don't be afraid, said the child scornfully, papa is driving.

The affect was striking. He looked out of the window, and then resumed his reading without making any observation.

The other gentleman again began to talk.

This is certainly madness, said he. "Yes madam, he continued, addressing the lady, your husband is either drunk or crazy."

Oh, sir, said the lady, my husband never gets drunk. You saw him a little while ago. Certainly the train is going at a furious rate. I don't understand it.

The officer closed his book and stretched himself along the seat. "I would advise you all to do the same," said he with the greatest coolness. "If you keep seated your legs will be unmangled. Remember the Versailles accident."

Certainly the train was running at a terrifying rate. What in the world could the engineer mean by such driving?

I am afraid, said the citizen, white with terror.

Then the officer took me aside. "Here is my name and address, said he. "If I am killed or mortally wounded in the accident to which we are running, and you escape, provide me now that you will carry these dispatches without a moment's delay to the general whose name you find by opening this envelope."

I promised.

The woman took the child in her arms and covered her little face with tears and kisses. She seemed to wish to make a rampart of herself to protect the little one against the frightful smashup that was momentarily expected.

I am not afraid, said the child, smiling, "papa is driving." And she alone among the passengers of the car, and doubtless she alone among all on board the train, had faith and confidence. We could hear in the other cars cries of terror and wailings of despair, and, in spite of the mother, the child leaned out of the window in the back door and shouted out with all the force of her little lungs, "Don't be afraid; papa is driving." Ah! that sweet little girl in the general terror, was a tower of strength! With that sacred love of a child for a father—an affection that nothing can break down.

Gradually the train slowed and then came to a standstill. We were at a station. The engineer came to the door.

"We have been going very fast," said he, but at all hazards we must get to Reims before the Prussians. This we must do at the risk of being blown up or smashed to pieces on the way. I'm told that we are carrying important despatches," and he looked at his little girl with tears in his eyes.

"Give me your hand," said the officer. "You are a brave fellow. It is I who have the despatches."

"En route!" then said the man, and he gave a parting glance at the fair form of his child as it to bid her farewell. But Jeanne was not afraid; and, moreover, nobody in our compartment was afraid any longer. We knew that we were risking our lives for our country and that satisfied us. As for the train it recommenced its furious race.

This was in the month of September, 1870, on the Eastern line.—Courier des Etats Unis.

BILIOUSNESS.

Bilious symptoms invariably arise from indigestion, such as furred tongue, vomiting of bile, giddiness, sick headache, irregular bowels. The liver secretes the bile and acts like a filter or sieve, to cleanse impurities of the blood. By irregularity in its action or suspensions of its functions, the bile is liable to overflow into the blood, causing jaundice, sallow complexion, yellow eyes, bilious diarrhœa, a languid, weary feeling and many other distressing symptoms. Biliousness may be properly termed an affection of the liver, and can be thoroughly cured by the grand regulator of the liver and biliary organs, BURDOCK BLOOD BITTERS. It acts upon the stomach, bowels and liver, making healthy bile and pure blood, and opens the culverts and sluiceways for the outlet of disease. Sold everywhere and guaranteed to cure.

I have occasionally employed the best agencies in New York, Philadelphia and Washington, but I still give you almost the whole of my business in your line, as I find you do it to my satisfaction.

Yours truly, GEORGE DRAPER.
